

NATASHA MULLINGS

Coming from humble beginnings, Natasha is considered as a “church baby,” because she was born and raised in an apostolic church. She began singing at a very tender age, therefore ministry has been embedded into her life. Natasha comes from a musically inclined family, where her mother, Sharon Mullings, is known as a singing sensation and her father, Patrick Mullings, an ordained minister and musician. Thus, a solid foundation was already built in the music ministry, and she did not shy away from the path.

Natasha has taken a step in faith to fulfill her dreams, with hopes of reaching out to the nation of youth and to resonate words of encouragement through Jesus Christ. When her journey of ministry began, Natasha with her sweet contemporary velvet voice and her older sister, Kernadine Mullings, who has a powerful and jazzy style, both came together in a phenomenal harmony to create an extraordinary melody, many have come to love and enjoy; in which they have been known by the name of Leah ‘N’ Marie.

Now having taken the step in entering the gospel competition, the Atlanta Caribbean Gospel Song Competition 2017. It’s truly a grand opportunity to minister to a larger and more diverse audience, as she will be releasing her very first single. The door of favor has been opened and she has taken that leap of faith to enter through. Great things are in store for Natasha.