

Wayne Hall

Wayne Hall was born in Jamaica. He migrated to New York in 1994 and then moved to Georgia in 2003. Wayne is the author of the book "I'm Dead Now What?" that looks at the experience of laying a loved one to rest in Jamaica. He is a teacher in Gwinnett County where he works with students with autism. He is the host of The Wayne Hall Show on www.reggaevibesradio.com and EPower 102.1 FM. Wayne is a proud family man. He is married and has two daughters. He is fun loving and has a very keen sense of humor. He loves to laugh and likes to make others laugh.

Wayne Attended the Ewarton Primary School, Charlemont High School and the GC Foster College of PE in Jamaica. He completed a bachelor in business administration in 2001 at Monroe College in New York.

In 1991 he received the Caldon Merchant Finance Bank Award for the teacher of the year in Jamaica. In 2014 he received the Linkage award for the radio host of the year. Wayne Hall is no stranger to hosting. He has hosted several events in Atlanta including the Grace Atlanta Jerk Festival, Atlanta Bless, Caribbean American Heritage Month opening ceremony, Charleston Carifest, The Atlanta Montego Bay Sister Committee Gospel Brunch to name a few.

Wayne Hall is on twitter @waynehallshow, Facebook The Wayne Hall Show and on Instagram as Waynehallshow. He can be emailed at Waynehallshow@gmail.com.